BANG TO RIGHTS

By Lucy Purdy

A STUDENT from Muswell Hill has been sentenced to five years behind bars after he stashed a deadly converted handgun inside a computer at his family home.

A court heard how Daniel Stanigar, 22, was pressured into storing the gun by gang accomplices and targeted because he was a student with no criminal record. Stanigar, of Muswell Hill Place, pleaded guilty to possessing a converted BBM 92 handgun and three live bullets and was sentenced at Wood Green Crown Court on April 9.

The loaded gun was found hidden inside a computer under Stanigar's bed by officers from Haringey's Crime Squad, which raided the house on January 7. He had been coerced into concealing it and was himself only involved "on the fringes" of gang culture, police said. But his actions had placed his family at risk and he was charged the next day.

Investigating officer Detective Constable Ben Jefferd, of Haringey's Crime Squad, said: "Stanigar pleaded guilty at the first opportunity due to the weight of evidence against him. He was a student and of previous good character and therefore ideal for the role he played in storing the firearm.

"With Stanigar's assistance, the firearm would have remained in circulation and may have been used in any number of violent crimes.

"Those who store weapons for others are

Student's five-year jail term for stashing gun for his gang friends

committing a crime, as well as helping others to commit theirs. This case shows anyone found guilty of gun possession faces prison."

Part of Haringey CID, Haringey's Crime Squad was set up in March 2009 to disrupt gangs and gun crime in the borough.

Officers also target those involved in burglary, robbery and the supply and misuse of illegal drugs.

Detective Sergeant Stuart Robinson, also from the squad, said: "Stanigar showed no regard for the safety of his family and put them at risk. We take all intelligence concerning firearms extremely seriously and where appropriate will act on it to make sure that guns, and those responsible for storing, owning and distributing them, are taken off the streets."

Haringey is an example of community cohesion

Seeking support:
Foreign Secretary David
Miliband addresses the Cypriot Community Centre, accompanied by John Prescott

Foreign Minister's praise for area on visit to Wood Green

By James Lowe

DAVID MILIBAND paid tribute to the sense of community spirit on a visit to the Cypriot Community Centre in Wood Green on Monday.

On the day Labour launched its London manifesto, the Foreign Secretary, along with veteran Labour campaigner John Prescott and Karen Jennings, the candidate for Hornsey and Wood Green, visited the centre to meet local residents and members of the business community.

Addressing the packed hall, he praised the contribution the diverse communities of Cypriot origin made to the economy, and the social and political life in the area. He said: "The sort of relationships which exist here – they're a good model for relationships we want to see in Cyprus itself."

"This is a great example of how communities can be proud of their origin: proud of their roots but also proud to be Londoners and proud to be British."

As well as focusing on the local Cypriot community, he was keen to stress support for a dual-zone proposal for Cyprus, the eventual inclusion of Turkey in the EU and for Britain to play a central part in Europe.

Focusing on his own north London roots, his schooling and his love of Arsenal FC, he was keen to connect with his electorate on a more personal level, even referring to his losing battle with John Prescott over the number of tweets on his Twitter trail.

At one point a bee made an unscheduled flight over the minister, reminding him of his pressing engagement at a cabinet meeting as a break in the volcanic cloud allowed getting the country airborne again. He was quick to swat away the uninvited guest as a trifling inconvenience, quipping: "It's got a yellow stripe, it must be a Lib-Dem bee."

NEWS

Dispersal zone back to soak up drink issue

DRUG-PUSHERS and street drinkers harassing residents in Tottenham have prompted police to reintroduce a dispersal zone.

The order will now be in place until October 19 in the area around West Green Road. It gives police officers and PCSOs the power to order groups of two or more people away and also the power to escort home unaccompanied young people loitering between 9pm and 6am.

Anyone staying in the area after being asked to leave could be punished by three months in prison or a fine of up to £2,500.

Police and PCSOs will regularly patrol the area until October in a bid to cut down on anti-social behaviour. Sergeant Lee Hobbs, from Tottenham Green Safer Neighbourhood team, explained: "We've reintroduced the order in response to concerns from residents about groups congregating in the area causing anti-social behaviour, drinking in the street, selling cannabis, littering and making inappropriate comments."

"Since the order lapsed in December we've carried out high-visibility patrols, stop-and-search and working with businesses to try to address the issues in other ways. However, we are still seeing problems in the area."

PCSOs may also detain offenders under the legislation as part of the Anti-social Behaviour Act 2003.

Paramedics, homes boss, and thousands more get set to make a difference in the long run

By Lucy Purdy

TWO paramedics from Tottenham are limbering up for this weekend's Flora London Marathon when they will take to the streets for a children's charity.

Crewmates Romana Skotzen and Arron Bonning will run in Sunday's marathon to raise money for MERU, a charity which designs and makes equipment for young people with disabilities in London.

The pair recently visited the charity in Epsom to find out more about the needy young people it helps, providing them with inspiration for the last few painful miles.

Romana said: "We're really excited to be running for such a great cause. I was amazed at the design process the engineers go through – from simple controls to help children move their own wheelchairs, to helping an 18-year-old participate with his brothers in a sport he loves."

The London Ambulance Service is hoping to raise £25,000 over the next two years for MERU, which was selected by staff. But their training has not been straightforward, with Arron suffering several health problems in the run-up.

He told the Advertiser: "I've always wanted to run the London marathon and have tried in the past to get in with no success. It's a great opportunity to get to take part and raise money for a worthwhile charity. A chest infection and painful calf muscle have put a big dent in my training but I have managed to get in some long runs which I hope will get me through."

"I hope to finish in under four hours if I can stay fit and healthy leading up to the big day."

MERU chief executive Susan Brumpton said it was a "wonderful opportunity" to be chosen by the LAS.

She said: "Their efforts are very much appreciated by our staff, our volunteers and the children we help."

"We wish all the runners every success and will be cheering them on as they take part in the marathon."

Pounding London's streets to help give shelter to neediest

THE chief executive of Homes for Haringey will run the 2010 London Marathon to help some of the capital's most needy people.

Father-of-two Paul Bridge hopes to raise £4,000 for HACT – a housing action charity which helps improve the housing conditions and wellbeing of poor and marginalised people across England and Scotland.

He has been getting into shape by running home from Wood Green to Peckham and taking the stairs at every opportunity. It is the second marathon for the 40-year-old, who will tackle the gruelling 26-mile course on Sunday alongside 50,000 other runners.

Paul, right, completed the 2009 marathon in aid of Crisis, a national homeless charity for single people.

Paul said: "After successfully completing a full marathon last year and raising £4,000 for Crisis, I decided to take on the challenge of running the London Marathon again. I chose HACT as I'm committed to improving housing for local people.

"HACT is doing fantastic work in communities by introducing projects which improve the wellbeing of residents."

Paul has already collected £3,296 and made a bid for people to "splash their cash" on his justgiving.com page.

During his day job, Paul is responsible for more than 42,000 properties in and around Haringey in his role at Homes For Haringey. The organisation was recently awarded the contract to manage Haringey Council's housing stock for another five years.

LUCY PURDY talks to the announced hopefuls

FORMER antique toy dealer Pete McAskie is standing for the Green Party. The 59-year-old has lived in Haringey most of his adult life and calls Wood Green home.

He stood as a parliamentary candidate in Tottenham in 2005. He has been involved in the party for 20 years after he became worried about inequality and the ticking environmental time bomb.

Mr McAskie, a father-of-two, said: "In our Green New Deal we pledge to create a million jobs in transport, recycling and renewable energy."

"The government has put only a minute fraction of what they put into the motor industry into green industries."

"We can no longer live as we are – we need to restructure. Our policies are about improving the quality of people's lives rather than just GDP."

Mr McAskie also expressed concern about The Whittington Hospital.

He believes environmental issues are relatively high on the agenda for residents but acknowledged it is hard to divert voters away from the bigger parties. "If you don't vote for green policies you won't get them. The other parties' policies are usually ten or 20 years behind ours. But that's just going to be too late."

FORMER nurse and mum-of-two Karen Jennings hopes to challenge the Liberal Dems' lead in Hornsey and Wood Green.

She puts Labour's 2005 defeat in the constituency down to the Iraq war and said the campaign is picking up real momentum.

"People are beginning to appreciate Labour's record and the way Gordon Brown has handled the economy," she said. "What we are hearing from the other parties is that public services have to be savagely cut, and he's saying not while the economy is fragile."

She rebutted any claims of hypocrisy for campaigning to retain services at the threatened Whittington Hospital, saying her trade union background – she currently heads Unison's health group on policy – means she is not afraid to challenge the party line. She said: "We need a 24/7 A&E at The Whittington. I'm not shy about my views and will champion what I believe."

"This process lacks transparency – there's a sense of fait accompli. It is not a Labour line I'm taking on this but a Hornsey and Wood Green line."

Ms Jennings has two grown up children and also became a proud grandmother this week to Grace. She pledges a strict open-door policy for residents on her constituency office if elected.

AMONG the names on the ballot sheet is businessman and first-time Conservative candidate Richard Merrin.

The 43-year-old believes his experience running his IT marketing business through both good times and bad has given him a unique insight into the recession and focuses his campaign on the impact the recession is having on businesses in the area.

warning the nation is not over the worst of the crunch.

Mr Merrin lived in Crouch End from the age of 17 and, though currently living in Kentish Town, has promised to return to the borough if elected.

He pledged to listen closely to local business people about how best to help them and to work hard to create more jobs in the area.

Mr Merrin also promised to improve education in the constituency, and described the threat facing The Whittington Hospital in nearby Highgate Hill as "extraordinary". He reiterated the pledge made by shadow health secretary Andrew Lansley to immediately halt the review under a Tory government. "Latest figures show a swing from Lib Dem to Tory. People are waking up to the fact they'll get Gordon Brown again," he added.

LYNNE FEATHERSTONE is standing for re-election in the Hornsey and Wood Green seat, with saving The Whittington coming "first and foremost".

The Lib Dem candidate says she has campaigned tirelessly during the last parliamentary term on issues which matter, estimating she has helped more than 28,000 people since first elected in 2005. As well as protecting frontline health services, Ms Featherstone will continue her fight for fairer funding for Haringey schoolchildren.

"It was fantastic to hear Nick Clegg say he would not close A&E or maternity services," she said. "The impact from that debate is tangible because he spoke about the real issues which matter and which local people care about. Lots of people are still incensed about Labour closing the post offices despite their protestations."

"Labour are also responsible for unfair funding in Haringey's schools. Fairer funding would mean we could cut class sizes in secondary schools to 16 and to 20 in primary schools. That's one of our manifesto commitments."

Ms Featherstone grew up in Haringey and got married at Haringey Civic Centre. She pointed out Lib Dems would cut "most taxpayers'" income tax bill by £700. She said: "We want to create sustainable jobs and take away that total reliance on the Square Mile, which has nearly bankrupted everybody."

"But it's The Whittington which comes first."

Carers invited to address the wannabes

CARERS from across Haringey will quiz the borough's parliamentary hopefuls at a hustings in Crouch End next Friday.

The meeting at Middle Lane Methodist Church has been organised by the Haringey Federation Of Residents' Associations and will focus on the welfare of carers and their charges. The group has issued an open invitation to anyone who wants to hear the prospective MPs debate but organisers have arranged it for the day-time so carers can take part from the floor.

Sue Hessel (pictured), health spokeswoman for the group, who has a severely autistic sister, said: "I've seen the problems my parents had. We're strong but it's been difficult. It's time the politicians answered questions from a group of people who ordinarily cannot get to hustings."

"I'll chair the meeting, and I can tell you now it will not be another night of politicians just talking – this time they'll listen to what the carers have to say as well.

"There are 16,000 carers out there who do not have any access to the services meant to be available for them. Gordon Brown promised £150million to help carers with respite care, but all the parties have since gone quiet – we have never seen any of the money. If Mr Brown had been true to his word that would have been great."

The meeting is set for 11am to 1pm next Friday.

National Lottery players raise £500 million for London 2012 - and the search is on for the UK's expert on the Olympic and Paralympic Games!

National Lottery players have raised £500 million for London 2012 to date by playing specially designated lottery games. To celebrate the landmark, The National Lottery has launched a nationwide search for the UK's expert on all things Olympic and Paralympic. The Games Brain of Britain will test the knowledge of Olympic and Paralympic Games buffs and sports fans alike in the ultimate challenge.

The quiz is made up of three multiple-choice rounds, against the clock, with questions becoming more challenging as players progress. Competitors who complete the quiz in the fastest time will be chosen to take part in a national final where they will pit their wits against each other for the chance to be crowned the Games Brain of Britain – and win a holiday of a lifetime to the Olympic Games host city of their choice. No matter what their score, everyone who takes the quiz will be entered into a free prize draw to win a Panasonic HD camcorder or a host of other prizes.

So, do you know your Goodhew from your Gunnell? Your Redgrave from your Regis? Put yourself to the test and take the quiz at www.national-lottery.co.uk/gamesbrain.

Terms and conditions apply for the Games Brain quiz and associated prize draw.

- The National Lottery is playing a key role in the success of London 2012 by contributing £2.2 billion towards the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games.
- Of this, £750 million will come from sales of specially designated lottery games including Dream Number, certain Scratchcards and all interactive Instant Win Games at national-lottery.co.uk – giving lottery players the chance to 'Be Part of It'.
- In particular, The National Lottery players are helping to fund five major new sports facilities that include the Olympic Stadium, a new VeloPark, Aquatics Centre, Handball Arena and Hockey Centre.

Teen designer's sixth collection will come to life on the catwalk

By Lucy Purdy

A FASHION designer from Muswell Hill who is already on his sixth collection at the tender age of 16 will showcase his latest creations at a show later this month.

Brett Russell, of The Avenue, has been sketching clothes since he was just four and seems on track to fulfill his dream of working with models Naomi Campbell and Kate Moss, having already won several awards for his designs.

The Highgate Wood School pupil will see his latest work march down the catwalk at a swanky central London hotel on April 30 during an event to highlight the role of mentors. Brett has been helped on his way by the MAD Mentors scheme, which supports young people from London hoping to make it in the fields of media, art and design.

Brett said: "I entered the 2008 Fashion Diversity Competition with my Back To The Future collection, a 1960s-influenced collection.

"Since then I've created five collections; Dolly Breeze, Metal Funk, Glow, Back To The Future and Contour Seduisant and put the £500 prize money towards a pattern-cutting course at the V&A Museum.

"My aim is to study at Central St Martins and I have three great dreams: to have my collections appear in international fashion weeks, for my collections to be modelled by the likes of Naomi Campbell, Chanel and Iman and to build a fashion house for the future called Brett Russell London."

The up-and-coming designers deemed "most promising" at the show will be chosen to take part in work placements with top art and design professionals such as make-up artist Daniel Sandler and Harrods art director Murielle Bourdais.

MAD Mentors founder Maryum Sharif, who set up the organisation after struggling to find work placements, said: "Young creative talent can grow and develop much more by giving them direction and support with expert role models."

She is currently looking for new mentors working in media, art and design who might be willing to help with the scheme.

Visit www.madmentors.com to find out more.

Women sprayed in face in Ladder

TWO women walking along the Haringey Ladder were attacked from behind by a gang of girls who sprayed a substance in their faces earlier this month.

Detectives are appealing for witnesses and information following the attack in Hewitt Road at 2.30am on April 6. The women, in their twenties, were both kicked and punched and then sprayed in the face with the mystery substance.

One had her handbag snatched before the suspects ran off.

Anyone with information should call Detective Constable Andy Reggio of Haringey's robbery squad on 020 8345 0870.

Search for coma victim's attacker

A MAN suffered a broken nose, broken ribs and a serious head injury after being assaulted in Wood Green earlier this month.

Detectives have urged anyone with information about the attack at 11pm on April 1 to come forward after the 39-year-old was left in a coma for two weeks which he just woke from.

Officers were called to the eastern end of Crawley Road, where they found the man lying unconscious on the pavement. He had been seen speaking to two white, tall, middle-aged men who were sitting in a dark-coloured hatchback car before he collapsed.

Investigating officer Detective Constable Dino Andreas said: "We'd like to speak to anyone with information and are particularly interested in speaking to the two men in the car who were seen speaking to the victim."

Anyone with information is asked to contact DC Andreas on 020 8345 0712.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973; and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
2. Classified Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
3. To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.
4. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
  - (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
  - (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
  - (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
5. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
6. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
7. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
8. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
9. All gross advertising rates (except classified lease and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
10. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
11. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
12. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
  - (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
  - (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.
19. Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.
20. Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.
21. Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors. Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Trade Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes. Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

Date Night (15)

Dir: Shawn Levy
Starring: Steve Carell, Tina Fey, Mark Wahlberg

LAST year my surprise laugh date at the movies was The Hangover.

Set over the course of one eventful night it showed the hilarious chain of events triggered by one character doing something slightly different from the norm.

This year it could well be Date Night, which sounds rubbish but made me laugh out loud at least a dozen times – pretty darn good for a garbled old critic like me.

The touchstone for this orgy of violence, misunderstandings and utterly bizarre adventures over a single night is Phil Foster's impromptu decision to take someone else's dinner reservation.

Phil (Carell) is out on a "date night" with his wife, Claire (Fey), a ritual they religiously stick to every week in an attempt to bring a little excitement back into their average, child-dominated lives.

Intent on dining at Manhattan's newest, chicest restaurant, but without a reservation, Phil and Claire take a table booked under the name Trip-plehorn... which leads them to a run in with two thugs... a corrupt police force... Mark Wahlberg as a super cool, topless private detective... a thrilling car chase involving conjoined cars... Ray Liotta as a Mr Big gangster... a randy, violent couple... and the strangest of lap dances.

Along the way Phil and Claire learn lots about each other and reanimate their pedestrian, comfy relationship, while we learn that 48 Hours meets North By Northwest is not quite the car crash it sounds.

It's not perfect – some scenes don't quite work – but there are more than enough that do, a tribute to screenwriter Josh Klausner, Shawn Levy and the inspired pairing of Carell and Fey.

The two naturally funny comedians seem to have the X Factor as the "boring couple from New Jersey" and perfectly time a number of gags which could have gone awry in the wrong hands. The fact they are not conventionally good-looking adds to their appeal and is a refreshing swing away from those wretched Jennifer Aniston/Gerald Butler fun-free fests.

Now Showing...

Cemetery Junction (15)

Ricky Gervais' and Stephen Merchant's first film outing is a mixed bag of comedy, drama, nostalgia and grit, great scenes and lame ones. Set in the early 1970s it follows three youths as they try to make the most of their provincial surroundings.

Shelter (15)

Silly, supernatural thriller starring Julianne Moore as a psychiatrist who refuses to believe multiple personality disorders exist. We found ourselves gripped by the movie's unravelling, ridiculous mystery.

Kick-Ass (15)

Mould-breaking superhero action flick, which sees geeky high-school nobody Aaron Johnson don a green-and-yellow wetsuit to become Kick-Ass. Joins forces with superhero combo Nicolas Cage and potty-mouthed 11-year-old Chloe Grace Moretz to fight crime. Brilliant and British.

The Blind Side (12A)

Sandra Bullock won an Oscar as the single-minded mum who adopts a black teenager. It's very watchable in a Friday night, check your brain out at the box office kind of way.

Acrobatic trio leap into fantasy world

THE Circus Space is rapidly becoming a feeder for Jacksons Lane arts centre.

This country's only university degree programme in circus, based down the road in Hoxton, is turning out a new generation of acrobats, jugglers and trapeze artists who increasingly find themselves professionally engaged in a show at the circus/cabaret specialists which Jacksons Lane has rapidly become.

The latest lot is Mimbres - namely Emma Norin, Lina Johansson and Silvia Fratelli, who graduated from The Circus Space 11 years ago.

The innovative female trio are all acrobats and all aim to tell "beautiful stories with their unique vocabulary of physical theatre, dance and world-class acrobatic performance".

They have an impressive track record and their latest show, Until Now, is a typically acrobatic adventure set in a nowhere land with a plot loosely based on stories of journeys, goodbyes and friendship.

Elegant and innocent, the family-friendly show enjoyed success at the London International Mime Festival in January and is directed by Leandre Ribera of acclaimed dance duo Leandre and Claire.

The show is followed next week by an appearance from our leading tightwire company, Dizzy O'Dare, which mixes dark fairy tales with more impressive physical feats.

● Until Now is performed at the venue in Archway Road, Highgate, today, tomorrow and Saturday at 8pm with a Saturday matinée at 2pm. Tickets cost £12.75 (£10.75 concessions). For more details and reservations call the box office on 020 8341 4421.

what's on

Out and about

● A NIGHT of bliss is promised Downstairs at the King's Head this Friday. The swooning voice of Rachel Morrison and her band, Bliss, perform at the Crouch End venue from 8.30pm. The melodic threesome perform songs from their previous albums including last year's My World Your World. Tickets cost £10. Call the box office on 020 8340 1028.

● ONE of London's biggest antiques events comes to Alexandra Palace this Sunday. The Antiques, Collectors, 20th Century & Art Deco Fair takes place in the Great Hall from 9.30am to 4.30pm featuring more than 600 stands alongside free antiques valuations and appraisals. It costs £5 (adults) while children under 14 go for free. For more details call the palace on 020 8365 2121.

● KICK back then swing out as three of the coolest dudes come to Edmonton this Friday. The spirit and swaggering cool of Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Sammy Davis Jnr will be revived in Legends Of Las Vegas - The Rat Pack. The lavish production is led by a musical director who has worked with Sammy David Jnr so prepare for a treat from 8pm. Tickets cost £18 (£16 concs). ## food

Neither rice nor spice to commend at old favourite

Day Of The Raj, 123 The Broadway, Mill Hill. 020 8906 3363/3477

THE days may be getting longer and brighter but sadly one well-established Indian restaurant in north London appears to have had its day.

We have eaten at Day Of The Raj on numerous occasions in the past 15 years. Although slightly pricier than some of its high street rivals it was always worth the extra cost with its fine decor, including lavish chandeliers, and friendly attentive staff.

So where did it go wrong on our last visit? Quite simply, the food was terrible.

As normal when reviewing Indian restaurants I opted for my default dish lamb madras (£5.90), which was floating in a runny sauce. It was sour and lacked heat, body and depth. But being famished I did eat it. My partner's default curry is of the mild, creamy persuasion. So what a disappointment when the chicken kashmiri (£5.90) was presented with an even wetter red sauce – not even a hint of cream or almond usually associated with the dish. It was more familiar of a very poor sweet and sour chicken a hospital might serve. Not what was ordered and not eaten.

But surely the rice must have been fine? Wrong. It was totally overcooked to the point where just squeezing it between fingers reduced it to a pulp. So it got sent back. Minutes later another portion arrived...exactly the same!

It's damage limitation now and I called to a man in a silver suit who was holding court with some other regulars. I was dismissed out of hand and he sent over the waiter who I had already had the rice summit with.

Rice portion No.3 turns up... still with the texture of bathroom grout.

It's time to exit. At my request, the kashmiri and the rice were deducted from the bill.

Restaurants can get it wrong and an apology is sometimes enough to appease the diner. If Day Of The Raj continues to treat people like this, I fear its days could be numbered.

ELLIS AND CO. BOOST BUYER INTEREST BY 30%!

Ellis and Co. in Enfield Town have welcomed news that a major industry survey has confirmed that floor plans increase buyer interest in a property by a whopping 30%!

This striking statistic is revealed in a recent survey conducted by Rightmove, the UK's largest property website, into the various marketing strategies employed by agents to make their properties stand out from the online crowd. The survey's findings are confirmed by Rightmove's Commercial Director Miles Shipside, who unequivocally states, "Floor plans generate 30% more interest than properties without one."

"We have always believed that floor plans have a dramatic effect in generating buyer interest, and these figures from Rightmove prove it beyond any doubt," says Richard Oughton of Ellis and Co.

Floor plans are so effective, he explains, because they give a much clearer visual impression of the actual size and layout of a property than photographs can convey on their own. "Basically, they make it far easier for househunters using the internet – which is where over 80% of people looking to buy now start their search – to envisage themselves living in a particular property. They are also a great help when it comes to deciding really practical issues like whether you can fit your furniture in or not."

That's why Ellis and Co are committed to including floor plans as a standard part of the service the firm offers all its clients, Richard adds. "We consider they are an essential tool in marketing property effectively – particularly in today's more challenging market. Indeed, I would strongly advise anyone contemplating using an agent who doesn't include floor plans on every single property to think again!"

For further information, please contact: Richard Oughton, Ellis and Co. Enfield on: 020 8363 8282 or email: enfield@ellisandco.co.uk.

BRILLIANT BALE SLAYS BLUES

Race For Fourth:
How it stands...

4 Tottenham	64
5 Man City	62
6 Liverpool	59
7 Aston Villa	58

ADAM HOLT

First Arsenal and then Chelsea as Spurs dish out some White Hart Pain on London rivals

By James Lowe

GARETH BALE stacked the odds of his team finishing in a top-four spot in Spurs' favour on Saturday as his man-of-the-match performance and goal helped the Lilywhites to a precious 2-1 over Premier League leaders Chelsea.

With a first-of-the-century win over Arsenal in midweek, Spurs had an extra spring in their step as they outshone their London rivals in the late-afternoon sun.

Jermain Defoe put an end to his recent poor form from the spot by smashing home a 15th-minute penalty to give Tottenham the lead after Chelsea skipper John Terry handled in the area.

Bale added a second on 43 minutes after Roman Pavlyuchenko's through ball sent the Welshman on one of his many left-wing forays, and after a fierce burst of pace he cut inside defender Paulo Ferreira and struck a right-foot shot inside Petr Cech's near post.

The Blues showed signs of feeling the pressure at the top as they failed to break through the home side's resolute defence – none more so than Terry, who was dismissed just after the hour mark for a second yellow card following a reckless lunging tackle on winger Bale.

Spurs created numerous chances to extend their lead further but it was Chelsea who scored the third goal of this derby clash in the second minute of what turned out to be a nail-biting five minutes of extra time at White Hart Lane.

But the hosts' hung on to cap a memorable week, much to the delight of manager Harry Redknapp.

"I expected them to come at us and thought we would be under the cosh a bit because of the way they play and the extra man they have in midfield," he said.

"I could see them getting real control of the game, but we got after them, and won back the ball when we lost possession."

When asked about the team's chances of remaining in the newly reclaimed Champions League fourth spot, he said: "We're still in there, we've won seven out of the last eight league games and you can't ask for more than that."

As he disappeared down the tunnel to a final chorus of "when the Spurs go marching in" being belted out from all four stands, the fans, it seemed, were inclined to agree.

Five straight wins all but secure safety

Brimdsdown Rovers 0 Haringey Borough 4

Molten Spartan Premier Division

HARINGEY BOROUGH have all but secured their safety in the Spartan Premier Division as they stretched their winning run to five games with a 4-0 win over Brimdsdown Rovers.

After an even opening to the game Borough went closest to opening the scoring as a shot was bundled off the line before two quickfire goals put them in command.

Mario Georgiou cut in from the right and squared for Tolu Popoola to tap home the first, before Theo Charalambous finished off a flowing move to double the lead.

Gabriel Nana-Owusu was then sent-off after he reacted to a tackle, but the ten men scored again before half-time when right-back Charlie Douse found himself in space in the box, and he drove beyond the Brimdsdown keeper and into the net.

Borough continued to make light of their numerical disadvantage and killed off Brimdsdown's limited challenge shortly after the restart as Arian Maleknia battled his way forward and drilled home a fourth.

Brimdsdown never looked likely to overhaul the visitors' lead, leaving Borough effectively safe as they surged up the table into 15th.

Only Kentish Town can match their points total, but would have to overhaul an inferior goal difference of 56 in their last two matches, while Borough would have to lose all five of their remaining games.
